

World's Week—Major News Events Summary

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was a sight never before witnessed in the deep South. But there it was, and no amount of eye rubbing or wishing could make it disappear.

Black men — and white — in a tramping parade that could be heard around the world.

And the man who really set the pace, the man who was the inspiration and the spirit, said: "Yes, we are on the move and no wave of racism can stop us."

The voice of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King resounded from his spot before the white-columned Alabama State House in Montgomery and in response there came a mighty cheer from the crowd of 30,000.

Among those 30,000 were many of the 300 who had walked every step of the way along the 54 miles separating Selma from Montgomery. They had walked five days and in heat and rain.

The last measure of the route was the same upon which Jefferson Davis had traveled when he was inaugurated president of the Confederacy.

The Negroes had marched to say they would not be denied their right to register and to vote and President Johnson mobilized troops for their protection.

But Thursday night, Viola Gregg Liuzzo, a 39-year old mother of five from Detroit, was working as a volunteer driver taking marchers from Montgomery back to Selma. She had with her a young Negro barber. Along a lonely stretch of road, a car drew alongside. There were at least two shots. One hit her in the neck.

Mrs. Liuzzo was dead.

President Johnson reacted quickly. He ordered the FBI into an around-the-clock investigation. He got quick results. Less than 17 hours later, the President with FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover at his side, announced the arrest of four men he said were Ku Klux Klan members from the Birmingham area. The men were Eugene Thomas, 43, William Orville Eaton, 41, Gary Thomas Rowe, 31, and Collie Leroy Wilkins Jr.

The President, grim and aroused, declared war on the Klan, calling it "a hooded society of bigots," disloyal to the United States.

He said he would seek new laws to curb the Klan.

Molly Brown

For a few hours during the week, racial strife and even the war in South Viet Nam faded into nothingness as the nation and much of the world followed the progress of a U.S. spaceship named Molly Brown.

After the spectacular space-manship of the Soviets, who put a cosmonaut outside his orbiting craft, it didn't seem that anyone could generate much excitement. But Air Force Maj. Virgil I. Grissom and Navy Lt. Comdr. John W. Young did on Tuesday when they took the Gemini 3 up for a three-orbit ride of almost five hours.

Their job: To see whether man could do space flying, that is, to manually change orbit and really control his flight.

Mission accomplished — to the cheers of the nation.

For Gus Grissom there was the further distinction of reigning as the first man to twice travel in space.

Gas Warfare

Since World War I the use of gas in warfare has been abhorred to the civilized world. Last week, the United States raised doubts at home and criticism abroad for the use of a nonlethal gas in Viet Nam.

The defense Department disclosed Monday that Americans had provided their South Vietnamese allies with certain types of gas that produced extreme nausea in its victims and temporarily disabled them for periods up to two hours.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said three types of nonlethal gas were turned over to the Vietnamese. One produced sneezing, coughing, headaches, nausea and vomiting for up to two hours. Another resulted in chest pains, vomiting and choking for up to 10 minutes. The third was a tear gas effective for three minutes.

The gas had been used three times since December. It was dispensed from American helicopters by Vietnamese soldiers. It had yet to prove successful.

Official Washington seemed to ask: "What is everybody so excited about?"

President Johnson had not been consulted on the use of the gas, said press secretary George Reedy. He called it "a rather standard type of riot-control agent," adding that "for years this kind of authority (to use such agents) has been delegated to area commanders."

The Defense Department insisted that the use of such nauseous gases was "not contrary to international law and practice." But not a few persons NEWSROOM NOTES — What should you do if the Internal Revenue Service asks you to explain your income tax deductions? First of all, don't panic, advise Charles Stevenson and James E. Roper in an April magazine article.

The record shows that if you, the taxpayer, feel that you have made an honest return, and if you are able to prove it, you have an excellent chance of winning your case. The best defense is a set of records, even informal ones.

Present your case calmly and factually. By official records, the IRS agent allows the original return to stand, without assessing additional taxes, in about a third of the cases he questions. If you have misinterpreted the law or made errors, you must pay additional taxes.

If you don't like the examining agent's decision, you can ask him for a "district conference." This will be with a higher-ranking IRS representative. Citizens win wholly or partly almost half the cases they take to this conference.

If you fail then, you can go higher to the IRS Appellate Division and then outside the agency's jurisdiction to the U.S. Tax Court. This specialized court functions independently — with 22 judges holding sessions all over the country for the sole purpose of bringing justice to taxpayers. It requires only a ten-dollar fee and a filing of a typewritten brief to take a case before the court. Four out of five cases appealed to the Tax Court are settled without trial.

If you lose your case in Tax Court, you still have a recourse to a regular U. S. Court of Appeals.

Man Shoots Daughters, Then Himself

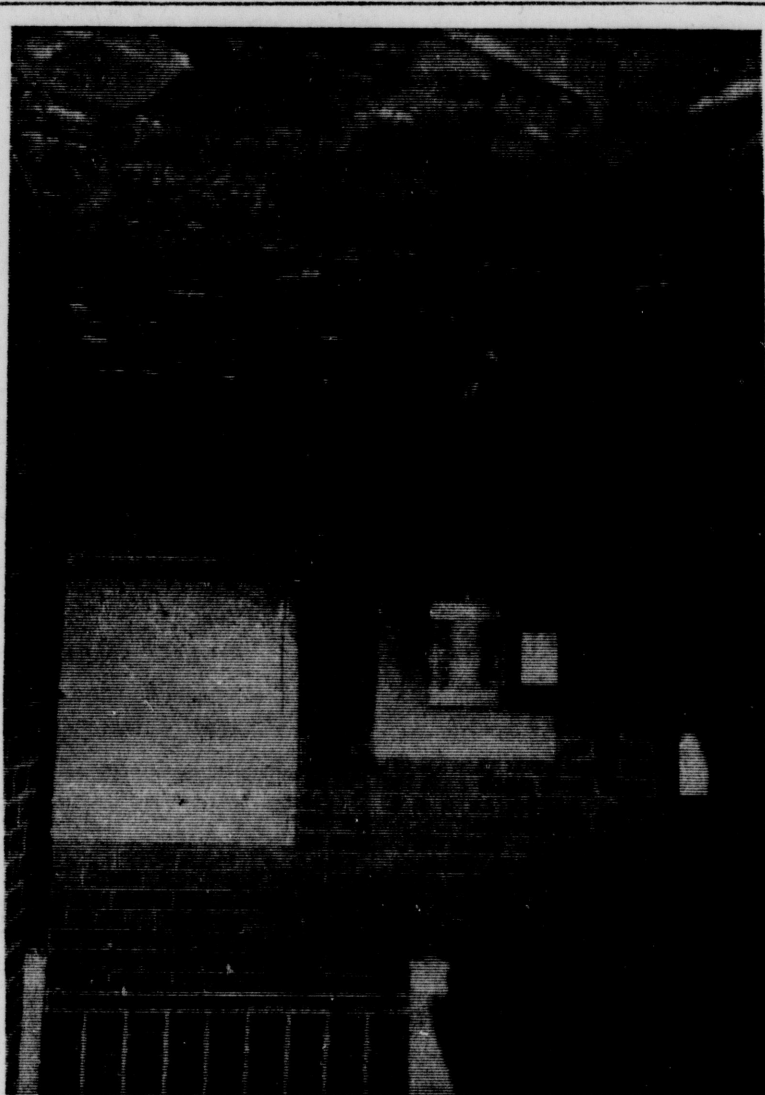

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP) — Lyle McMeekan, 33, who police say shot two small daughters and then himself Friday, had often threatened to kill the children says his wife.

The victims, Melinda, 3, and Kimberley, 4, were shot Friday in the home of Mrs. Sandra McMeekan's parents. McMeekan then turned the shotgun on himself, police said.

The shootings occurred after she refused her husband's plea to return to their home in Sherrard, about 20 miles south of Rock Island, Mrs. McMeekan, 25, said.

McMeekan left and returned shortly with a shotgun, she said. "I pleaded with him, I told him I loved the kids and would go back with him," she said. "I tried two or three times to grab the gun but it didn't do any good. He shot the girls and I ran outside screaming."

Police said they found a number of empty beer cans in McMeekan's car, along with a second shotgun. Mrs. McMeekan said her husband had beaten her frequently and often threatened to kill her and the children.

Early Saturday DSS Fire

... fire damaged hallway of cottage

DSS Residents Escape Blaze

Thirty to 35 residents of the farm cottage at Dixon State School escaped injury early today by fleeing through windows of the cottage as a fire of undetermined origin raced through the building.

According to reports, the fire was discovered by the cottage supervisor about 1:20 a.m. Firemen of the state school fought the blaze for about one and one-half hours before it was extinguished.

The blaze was discovered in the clothing room of the building which is just inside the main entrance. Because of intense smoke and heat, the residents were forced to flee the building through windows. All the residents escaped within minutes and no injuries were reported.

The flames completely destroyed the clothing room and it caused heavy damage to the main hallway of the cottage. In addition, the living spaces sustained extensive water and smoke damage.

Richard Battles, public relations director at the institution, said the loss is estimated to be about $20,000.

About 9 a.m. this morning, the residents were returning to the cottage to retrieve their personal belongings. Battles said cleanup operations will start later today.

The building will have to be completely renovated before the residents will be able to return to it and Battles said they are being housed in various other cottages on the grounds in the meantime.

DSS officials are expected to conduct an investigation to determine the cause of the fire.

Law School Deans Say

Remap Must Maintain Territorial Divisions

CHICAGO (AP) — Reapportionment of the Illinois legislature must maintain the three territorial divisions set up by a 1954 state constitutional amendment, say three Chicago law school deans.

The deans, Russell N. Sullivan of the University of Illinois, John Ritchie of Northwestern and Phil C. Neal of the University of Chicago, announced their opinion Friday through the Citizens Reapportionment Committee, a bipartisan volunteer group.

GOP Plan

The Republican reapportionment measures would continue the divisions — Chicago, suburban Cook County and downstate — while Democratic-backed bills provide for overlapping districts for the Illinois Senate and House.

The deans supported the GOP contention that the Illinois Supreme Court had authority to hand down its recent ruling upholding the amendment creating the divisions.

The effect of the ruling, they said, is that each Senate and House district shall be wholly included within one of the three described divisions of the state.

Court Ruling

Democrats have been relying on a U.S. District Court ruling in opposition to the state supreme court's decision.

"The Supreme Court of the United States accepts and is required to accept the determinations of the Illinois Supreme Court on such questions so long as no new conflict with the federal Constitution is presented.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Alabama may seek first degree murder indictments against four white men — called Ku Klux Klansmen by President Johnson — who are charged with conspiracy in the ambush slaying of a Detroit civil rights worker.

If the evidence warrants, "I'm going to insist that we get a first degree murder indictment, State Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers said Friday night.

Mrs. Viola Gregg Liuzzo, 39, white and mother of five, was shot to death near Lowndesboro, Ala., while assisting in a civil rights drive.

Flowers said, "from what I've heard thus far, it looks like premeditated murder."

Conviction for first degree murder in Alabama carries either a death sentence or life imprisonment at the discretion of the jury.

The President announced the arrests in Washington, 16½ hours after Mrs. Liuzzo, who grew up in the South, slumped over in the driver's seat of her car, a bullet in the temple.

Selma Negro, Leroy Moton, 19, was beside her in the car when another auto pulled alongside and two shots were fired. The two were returning to Montgomery after shuttling a group of civil rights workers to Selma. She was en route back to pick up another group.

The four men arrested were Eugene Thomas, 42, and William Orville Eaton, 41, both of Bessemer; Gary Tommy Rowe Jr., 34, of Birmingham; and Collie Leroy Wilkins Jr., 21, of Fairfield, Ala.

The four were taken into custody by FBI agents in the Birmingham area. A U.S. commissioner set bond at $50,000 each. Thomas, Eaton and Rowe were released several hours later when their attorney posted bond.

Wilkins remained in jail. He was convicted in federal court last November on a charge of possessing an unregistered shotgun, given a one-year suspended sentence and placed on probation for two years.

R. Macey Taylor, an assistant U.S. district attorney, said the four were charged with violating a 90-year-old federal statute for conspiring to deprive another person of his constitutional rights. Maximum penalty is 10 years in prison, a $5,000 fine or both.

There were these other developments on the racial scene:

1. Seven policemen were treated at a hospital in Waterbury, Conn., after a street fight broke out in a Negro neighborhood when officers tried to make an arrest. Police said they were called "segregationists" and other names by a crowd of from 150 to 200. Bottles and bricks were thrown at the officers.

2. Counties seeking exemptions from the proposed voting rights act of 1965 were promised full Justice Department cooperation. Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach told delegates of the National Association of Counties, meeting in Washington, "we want to make the burden on the counties as small as we can."

Quotable

There is a paradox in pride: it makes some men ridiculous, but prevents others from becoming so.

—C. C. Colton

3. A boycott at Negro Jackson High School in Jonesboro, La., ended its third week with no solution in sight. The pupils are protesting what they called sub-standard facilities and courses.

4. Nineteen Syracuse University students asked Katzenbach for federal protection while in Jonesboro, La., helping reconstruct two Negro churches destroyed by fire Jan. 19. They plan to spend their spring vacation in the Deep South community. And Gov. John J. McKeithen of Louisiana said he will go to Jonesboro to try personal diplomacy with Negro students boycotting a school.

5. The House Committee on Un-American Activities probably will meet next week to decide whether it should launch a formal investigation of the Ku Klux Klan.

Say Little

The four men the FBI said belonged to the Klan had little to say when brought before U.S. Commissioner Louise O. Charlton except "Yes m'am," and "yes, your honor."

The commissioner is a spry 76 and has had her office in Birmingham for 41 years. She wore a pink suit with a turquoise blouse for the bond hearing. A pink rose was stuck in her near-white hair.

Once when opposing attorneys disagreed over an arraignment date she told them, "Now, let's don't put this off forever and ever please."

Date Set

She handed them a calendar and after brief discussion set April 15 as the date.

Wilkins, who was dressed in a dark brown shirt and black trousers, and Rowe, who was neatly garbed in a dark grey suit and white shirt, objected to photographers taking their pictures.

"Get those damn lights out of my face," Wilkins told one cameraman.

Rowe, who has red hair, lunged three times at photographers, once forcing an FBI agent to push him into a hastily opened door for a moment.

Income Tax Is Biting So Hard You See the Marks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Income tax is biting so hard this year you can see the marks.

Some banks are reporting an unusually large number of personal loans. The reason, no secret: money needed to pay taxes.

The Internal Revenue Service has noticed a significant slowdown in the flow of tax returns. The reason, presumed but obvious: more people than usual are waiting until the last minute — April 15 — because they have to send money in.

Refunds Drop

A lot of families which are used to getting refunds in the spring haven't got any this year. The reason, the same one that is behind most of this year's more than usual tax distress: last year's under-withholding.

And yet, ironically, a larger percentage of those taxpayers who have filed their returns are making errors in favor of the government.

When pay check deductions were reduced in March 1964 from 18 per cent to 14 per cent following enactment of an $11.5 billion tax cut, the largest in history, Johnson administration officials recognized that some taxpayers who earn from $7,500 to $20,000 wouldn't be fully covered by withholding.

The withholding rate was set a little low to put more money in the spending stream and thereby pep up the economy. Economists almost unanimously agree that the strategy worked — but it put a crimp in the personal financial strategy of many taxpayers.

Many taxpayers did not take advantage of their option to permit larger deductions from their pay checks.

Some banks say the big rush for loan applications won't come until a few days before the April 15 deadline.

However, officials of Federal Reserve District banks in Philadelphia and Richmond, Va., said there was no noticeable increase in the number of personal loans.

As of March 19, the revenue service had mailed out 16.3 million refunds compared to 18.8 million at a comparable point last year, a decline of 14 per cent.

Refunds totaled about $1.9 billion, a drop of 25 per cent from the $2.6 billion of last year. Usually the number of returns increases 2 to 4 per cent a year. By March 19, the IRS had received 7.5 per cent fewer returns as compared to March 19, 1964. The totals: 32,060,000 in the 1964 period and 29,656,000 this year.

Ordnance Experts Hunt For Live Shells

Army ordnance disposal experts from the Savanna Army Depot are shown hunting for possible live shells after an Army pickup truck en route from Ft. Sheridan, Ill., to Savanna with a load of explosives caught fire and burned about noon Friday on Rt. 64 about six miles east of Lanark. The fire trucks (in the right background) contained the blaze until the Army men arrived on the scene. Both the Polo and Lanark Fire Departments were on the scene of the narrowly averted disaster. Despite Bickering House Passes School Aid Bill WASHINGTON (AP) — The House overcame bitter bickering last night to pass the controversial $1.3 billion school aid bill.

The 263-153 vote gave President Johnson his biggest legislative victory of the session.

The party lineup: 228 Democrats and 35 Republicans for the measure; 57 Democrats and 96 Republicans against.

Quick Action

The bill, aimed primarily at helping school districts which serve children from impoverished families, now moves to the Senate where Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana predicts quick action.

House opponents used parliamentary devices and time-consuming votes to delay final action.

At one point, Rep. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., charged: "This isn't going to be an education act; it's going to be the railroad act of 1965."

Goodell also accused the administration forces of glossing over the bill's impact on parochial schools.

Private Schools

The measure contains provisions which would allow private school students to take advantage of the federal aid.

Said Goodell: "they have let the private schools think they are going to get something out of this bill, but it's my opinion it won't be much, and what they do get may be unconstitutional."

The New Yorker later declared that Democrats were stifling opposition.

This brought Speaker John W.

McCormack, D-Mass., to the microphone.

Normally good-natured, the unsmiling McCormack said: "I am aware there is some kind of implication of intimidation being made and I don't like it."

In the Senate, Mansfield said he hoped the bill would pass within two weeks.

Prediction

Sponsors of the legislation predict that at least 90 per cent of the nation's 25,991 school districts will benefit from it.

The major provision of the bill authorizes $1.06 billion in aid next year based on a formula keyed to the number of children in each district from families with incomes of $2,000 or less.

An additional factor, added in the House Education Committee, would allow aid for welfare families, even though their incomes exceed $2,000.

The aid under this title would go entirely to public schools. But some of the programs they devise to help the disadvantaged children also would cover pupils in private schools.

Will the U.S. Be Dollared to Death?

By HENRY J. TAYLOR

The foreign aid bill now being debated lights a fuse under our balance-of-payments problem. Is the whole, wide world to dollar us to death? Aren't we expected to have any feathers left on Uncle Sam's eagle?

It's nearly incredible that this richest nation in the world finds itself in such a preposterous mess as the gold crisis. But reckless give-aways abroad, the deliberate buildup of foreign competition and our failures to stand firm for America in tariff negotiations offer important explanations.

Take the case history of Indonesia where, like Nasser's Egypt and many other free-loading countries that ride our foreign aid gravy train while they upset the world, Sukarno treats the United States like a bulldog treats a tramp.

Sukarno is called Bung (Brother) Karno in Indonesia. He is also called Bung in Moscow and Peking, for he's been a Red stooge for years. Nevertheless, this wily demagogue has wrangled more than $1.7 billion out of our taxpayers.

Disgust
Congressional disgust and our public's resentment blew the whistle on him long ago. But double-talk is this scoundrel's lifetime occupation and he won out with it again when he visited the White House for a second time in 1961.

"I am the best bulwark in Indonesia against communism. Give me your aid," he stated to President Kennedy. Mr. Kennedy somehow believed him and continued the outpourings, to the bitter dismay of every one of our NATO allies, especially the Dutch. Sukarno promptly began prodding hard against all anti-communist neighbors. He began what you hear called in Jakarta a "confrontation." It means disturbances just short of war. It also means higher overseas costs for America and our allies alike.

Finally, a few months ago, our Senate tried to specifically withhold aid to Indonesia. Listen to the exact words in Sukarno's reply, issued to the Jakarta press: "Crazy, crazy. We are rich enough to do without American aid. Indonesian resources are so, so rich; our need is only to dig out our own resources. To hell with American aid."

Johnson
Yet, President Johnson actively engineered the defeat of the aid ban in the Senate. And while manipulated news hides and belittles its amount, our aid to Indonesia continues to this very day. Is there any wonder we have a balance-of-payments problem?

The world's five leading automobile producers are the United States, West Germany, England, France and Japan — in that order. We have the highest wages and shortest working hours of any nation. The world's largest blast furnace is in Japan — an important factor in her low-cost steel production along with wages that wouldn't fatten a nightingale in the United States, although high for the Orient.

Japan has 14 automobile manufacturers. A recent $11 million U.S. Export-Import Bank loan to Nissan's, at Oppama, provided a $5.5 million automatic press for metal parts that gives the Japanese company perhaps the world's lowest-cost automobile plant.

Japan's membership in the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development and in the International Monetary Fund binds her not to restrict the import of American cars. The Tokyo government has twice delayed liberalizing imports, the second time as late as last October. And even when — and if — foreign cars are allowed to enter freely, Japan will hit our American sales with a 35 per cent duty, plus a 40 per cent excise tax on most models.

Future
Meanwhile, Nissan Export Manager Kajii Uno sees a bright future. "There is much room for our sales expansion in America," he has announced.

Foreign aid and free trade have their beneficent place. But neither should be a one-way street. Self-interest has a No. 1 priority in every other country in the world. This is human and this is history. We need not be angry about it. But we must never forget it. We do so at our peril.

When our gold goes down — down and out — on today's scale and Federal Reserve Board Chairman William Mc C. Martin warns, "We're in an emergency situation," the root-reasons lay deep in our whole mistaken concept of what should be our world policy. For, in truth, the first responsibility of the United States Government is to provide for the security and prosperity of its own citizens.

Dear Ann:

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: The letter from the 13-year-old boy who said he was a nervous wreck because of his four-year-old sister brought back memories.

I spent five years in the delivery section of a maternity ward. Every expectant father wanted his first born to be a boy. Half of them, of course, were disappointed—and said so. I used to think it was terrible the way some of those dopes even told wives they were "let down."

I made it a practice to get the disappointed fathers to one side and tell them it is always better to have a girl first because as she grows older and is told to watch her little brothers and sisters it will come naturally and she will enjoy it. When a boy is told to watch his younger brothers and sisters, however, he is ready to pack his toys and leave home.

I've often wondered if those fathers remembered what I had told them, as the years went by. I hope so.

— MEMORIES

Dear Memories: I hope not. I'd hate to think that yours is the best reason to rejoice over the birth of a daughter. Is a daughter important only because she can save you some baby-sitting money?

A father who would complain because he didn't "get what he wanted" is immature and stupid.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 17-year-old high school senior and have been going steady with a 22-year-old fellow. Tim has had two years of college and is now working for his father.

I like him a lot and we have talked about marriage in a roundabout way, nothing personal. Tim must have thought I was a lot more serious about him than I really am because last night he brought me an engagement ring. It is a beautiful diamond in a platinum setting and I'd love to keep it as a decoration but I am not ready to get engaged.

Also, my parents would go in to orbit if they knew so I have not told them. Tim knows how my folks feel and suggested I just keep the ring in the toe of a shoe until I graduate from high school, and then tell them. I'm afraid if I give the ring back he may be hurt and give it to someone else on the rebound. I need some advice.

Dear Rosie: An engagement ring is no decoration and you know it. Give the ring back to Tim and tell him to keep it in the toe of his shoe or better still, suggest that he take it back to the jewelry store.

Dear Ann Landers: I married Ralph a year and a half ago. He is a great guy who had been ditched by a gold digger. Two weeks before the wedding she drove out of his life in the new car he had given her as an engagement present. Ralph owes lecture of some of our elegant modern dwellings preparatory to erecting a new home for himself at Ashton. He will find some worthy models right here in our city.

George Steel and Al Simonson have returned from the swamps with over 100 ducks.

a balance of $350 on that car. So this is my question:

Ralph and I file our income tax jointly. We will soon be getting back about $375 from the government because we overpaid last year. Should I let Ralph take that money and pay off his obligation on the car? Or should I take the half that rightfully belongs to me and buy myself something nice?

Most of the people I've asked feel I should be a good sport and give Ralph my half. But I don't want to be a sap. This obligation was incurred before I knew Ralph and I honestly resent it.—BALLERINA

Dear Bal: Help Ralph pay off the debt by kicking in your half of the refund check. What an ideal way to show him you are a Number One Number Two girl.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Warren G. Harding said "God, what a job," but President Johnson has the same relief for it that President Franklin D. Roosevelt did. Roosevelt and Johnson have had more than that in common.

Historians put Roosevelt, who started out promising a "New Deal," among the great presidents. It seems clear, from the sweep of his programs and his promises of a "Great Society," that Johnson hopes to be in the same group.

Johnson, always impressed by Roosevelt, is operating in much the same manner: action, bold and broad proposals, and expressed concern for people.

The direction of the two men is the same even though Roosevelt took over in the depths of depression while Johnson began his four-year term last January when, to use his own description, the economy was "excellent."

Johnson even uses some of the words, goals, and ideas of his mentor.

"This generation of Americans has a rendezvous with destiny," Roosevelt said in accepting renomination in 1936. Johnson in his inaugural last January said, "For every generation there is a destiny."

In his first inaugural Roosevelt said, "This nation asks for action." Johnson promised "action" in his inaugural. Starting out in the presidency, Roosevelt said, "Our primary task is to put people to work."

Johnson in his economic report this year put employment first among this country's "unfinished tasks."

In his 1933 inaugural Roosevelt rattled off a list of programs he wanted Congress to approve. In his inaugural Johnson rattled off almost 50 proposals he wants action on.

Roosevelt created an American social revolution out of the necessity of depression, although actually he was only trying to bring the long tardy United States abreast of policies reached by European countries years before.

Wealthy
In doing so the wealthy and aristocratic Roosevelt antagonized business and was regarded as a radical and traitor to his class by the well-to-do but he was basically a conservative trying to catch up with the times.

Johnson learned from Roosevelt's mistakes in dealing with big business and is courting it as zealously as labor although his programs won't have the same wide and far-reaching effect on business and the rich as Roosevelt's.

But then Roosevelt was dealing with a crisis that Johnson doesn't face.

Johnson, who switched ground during his 23 years in Congress, so far has escaped any flat tags of left or right although, for his strong support of civil rights, segregationist Southerners may consider him a traitor to his Southern background.

But the programs Johnson has handed Congress are generally in the tradition of the New Deal: medical care for the aged, aid to education, antipoverty, housing, and others.

Johnson had far more experience in government and with Congress than Roosevelt and the experience is beginning to show.

For instance, where Roosevelt was able to get through some of his programs in a moment of national desperation, but did badly later, Johnson, under no such pressure, is making astonishing progress and hopes to continue it.

Only time will tell whether Johnson and Roosevelt had something else in common: much less concern about foreign problems than domestic ones.

If Roosevelt had shown more awareness of what was building up in Europe before Hitler went to war, and more leadership in trying to thwart it or get prepared for it, history might have been different.

Because of his long service in Congress, almost all of Johnson's experience has been in domestic affairs, not in foreign ones. And he has said very little about them after 16 months in office, compared with all he has said about the problems at home.

ONE YEAR LATER—ALASKA REMEMBERS

On Good Friday last year, March 27, catastrophe struck in Alaska. Severe earthquakes and tidal waves wracked coastal towns and cities. Thanks to their own energies and the help of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, the scenes of destruction shown in these pictures, taken as the cleaning up started, have largely been erased. Restoration began the very next morning and has continued every day since, despite the scourging of the workers by icy winter winds for the past six months. Just picking up the debris since the night of the 'quake involved 2,000 men working all through April at a cost of about $3,500,000. Rebuilding was preceded by a three-month study of the "crazy clays," the villains in the landslides that tore the heart out of fine residential sections of Anchorage. One result of the soils study is the decision to move the entire town of Valdez, of gold rush fame, to a new, more stable location.

The grounds of the Kodiak public school became a "port" for fishing boats. They were hurled there by 40-foot waves generated by the earthquake.

Residents of Anchorage, dispossessed by the 'quake, walk past what had been a new six-story building before the quivering earth shook it down.

Mother Earth's convulsions threw some fancy curves into the steel rails of the Alaska Railroad.

both at home and abroad, didn't see it that way at all.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk told a hastily arranged news conference on Wednesday that the United States did not regard the use of a "police type" gas as gas warfare.

By week's end there was some applause from foreign quarters that the United States was using a weapon which rendered victims sick — but alive — rather than weapons which killed and maimed.

It remained to be seen, however, whether the United States had suffered a propaganda reverse.

Other Firsts

There were other firsts during the week. In the Yukon Territory, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., made his first mountain climb. It was on the highest unclimbed mountain in North America — Mount Kennedy, which was named in memory of the late president. On reaching the summit of the 13,900-foot peak, Sen. Kennedy planted a black-bordered flag with the family crest, three silver helmets on a green background, in memory of his brother.

Mae Murray Dies

She reigned once as the nation's No. 1 glamor girl, and in her great days of popularity, the girl with "the bee-stung mouth" could and did mean only Mae Murray. She began as a cabaret dancer in New York and got her first big break in the Ziegfeld Follies when she replaced Irene Castle who became ill. Adolph Zukor, a Hollywood pioneer, spotted her and put her in films. Her best screen role was in "The Merry Widow." Death came to her in the motion picture country home. She was 75.

Quotes

"Why couldn't mommy have just died from being old?" — Sally Liuzzo, 6, daughter of the slain civil rights worker, Viola Gregg Liuzzo.

"My father fought them in Texas. I have fought them all my life because I believe them to threaten the peace of every community where they exist." — President Johnson, as he declared war on the Ku Klux Klan.

"In the matter of reapportionment, the U.S. Supreme Court has made it clear that it desires to have the state courts take the initiative whenever they are willing to do so," they said.

A Senate-House conference committee is to begin consideration Monday on conflicting reapportionment bills passed by the Republican-controlled Senate and by the Democratic-controlled House.

The plaque was presented by George Holland, president of the Greater Dixon Lions Club.

Capitol Capsule

By CHARLES WHALEN

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) —

June is usually the time reserved for frayed nerves, temper outbursts and filibusters in the Illinois Legislature. But, two months ahead of schedule, a filibuster is being threatened.

It comes from an old hand at the game — Rep. John W. Lewis of Marshall, 59-year-old farmer and auctioneer with a booming voice and dogged determination.

If he pursues the threat, Lewis would be reliving his days in 1949 when he engineered a slowdown against a nickel gas tax bill, and in 1947 when he battled congressional reapportionment.

Seldom Work

The history of recent Illinois

filibusters show they seldom get the job done, although they are nagging to the legislators and worrisome for the leaders eyeing a backlog of bills.

They do serve, however, to dramatize a minority position or focus public attention on an issue or a principle.

This time Lewis is fearful there might be a replay of two years ago when house reapportionment ultimately went down the drain and Republicans fared disastrously in the at-large election.

So he has warned the Democratic house he will stage an unrelenting filibuster with the aim of paralyzing action on key administration bills unless reapportionment is solved.

Lewis didn't have to grope with a filibuster when he was speaker two years ago but most presiding officers have been faced with them.

One of the most theatrical performances occurred in 1959

when a slightly-built lawmaker named Abraham Lincoln Stanfield carried a woodchopper's ax into the house and vowed he would cut the state budget.

For a week the house was tied in knots by the one-man show. On one day only a handful of 300 bills on the calendar could be dealt with. The filibuster, however, proved ineffective in slashing state spending.

Not Common

Talking something to death is not the common filibuster technique in Illinois. House rules put a 15-minute limit on speeches.

The device employed is to demand that all bills called be read in full instead of by the abbreviated titles. An accompanying method is to make countless routine motions and then force time-consuming roll calls on them.

When Paul Powell was speaker in 1961 he took the steam out of a filibuster by ignoring requests for full reading of bills.

No one then successfully challenged his ruling that the constitutional requirement for reading all bills "at large" meant droning through the text.

"What's Wrong With That Door"

Patrons of the City National Bank Friday afternoon experienced some door problems. The bank had just activated the new electrically controlled closing doors to the main entrance. Many of those who entered or left the bank found the door did not start closing as it seemed it should have. Some registered looks of perplexity at the phenomenon. There were those who, helpfully, tried to push the door to close it but found the door resisted their efforts and then to their amazement would close of its own accord. Pictured above is Mrs. Robert Hoyle, 321 Ottawa Ave., who is shown as she turned to give the door an "assist." She, like others, could not budge the door, but in its own time it did close.

Aftermath of Army Truck Explosion

Explosive ordnance disposal experts from the Savanna Army Depot are shown clearing the area around a pickup truck loaded with explosives which caught fire and burned near Lanark Friday. The pickup truck was transporting about 200 rounds of small arms ammunition, 47 sticks of dynamite and several boxes of flares. When the driver noticed the back of the truck in flames, he pulled to the side of the road and ran for help. Most of the small arms ammo and the flares exploded but the dynamite merely burned. The exploding flares gave the scene the appearance of a strange Fourth of July celebration.

Young Demos To Support Legislation

The Lee County Young Democrats meeting Friday night decided to send a resolution to the Illinois House of Representatives supporting the proposed legislation relating to non-discrimination in housing, and to enter a float in the Dixon Petunia Festival Parade. The meeting was held in the KC Hall.

Winston McReynolds, president of the Dixon Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, was principal speaker at the meeting and was presented with a life associate membership in the Young Democrats organization by Dave Considine, president of the group.

McReynolds discussed civil rights in general and noted the progress the Negro has made in Dixon during the past five years. He specifically mentioned the fact that Negroes were able to get haircuts in Dixon before the Civil Rights Law was passed. He told the Young Democrats the principal remaining problem Negroes have locally is in the area of "open housing."

The NAACP official told the group his organization is opposed, both in philosophy and method, to the Black Muslim movement. He said he deplores the violent methods of the militant organization and also the hatred of the white man which they preach.

Louise Howard, Franklin Grove, was appointed chairman of the Petunia Float project, and Judy Welch, Dixon, was named co-chairman of the committee.

Unger-Johnson Nuptials

Miss Jean Unger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Unger, Dixon, became the bride of Thomas W. Johnson, son of Mrs. C. E. Johnson, Polo, and the late Mr. Johnson, in a morning wedding performed March 6 in St. Mary's Catholic Church, Polo, by the Rev. James D. Burke.

Arrangements of white gladioli and blue Fuji chrysanthemums trimmed the church altar for the double-ring ceremony, and nuptial organ music was provided by Mrs. George Fritz, Polo. Attending the couple were Ronald Carroll, Polo, and Miss Mary Ann Stein.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a floor length gown of white satin fashioned with a molded bodice featuring a scooped neckline and brief sleeves. For the ceremony, Mrs. Unger chose a blue and white knit suit, and the bridegroom's mother wore a brown and gold suit. Their flowers were shoulder corsages of white carnations.

The newlyweds were honored at a reception given by the bride's parents in the church parish hall following the service and attended by 40 guests from Dixon, Polo, Roselle and Rockford. A tiered wedding cake served by Miss Chloe Ann Rhodes, Roselle, centered the white linen covered refreshment table which was trimmed with blue streamers and an overskirt of blue net, and presiding at the punch bowl and coffee service were Miss Ann Unger, sister of the bride, and Miss Joanne Hey. Mrs. Quentin Volkema, Freeport, organist for the double-ring service, accompanied vocal selections by James Elliott, Freeport, and altar decorations included bouquets of white stock and pink carnations.

The bride's gown of white nylon organza was designed with tapered sleeves and a fitted bodice trimmed with sequin-embroidered lace, and three tiers of organza bordered with lace formed the floor length skirt's chapel train. sleeves and bell skirts. Panels forming their floor length trains were held by back-bows attached to square-cut necklines, and their cascading bouquets combined pink carnations and heather.

Mrs. Bawinkel selected a two-piece costume of beige lace for her daughter's wedding, and a dress of lime green lace was worn by the bridegroom's mother. Both chose beige accessories and white orchid corsages.

The term realia includes nearly any object that is peculiar to a Spanish speaking country and that tends to reflect something of the country's culture.

Garden Gossip

Ground Cover Plants For Many Situations

By DIXON MEN'S GARDEN CLUB

So many varieties of ground covers are now available to the gardener that it is almost impossible to determine any specific variety that might be best to plant.

This type of plant material lends itself to embankments, borders, shady areas obliterated by lack of grass, soil erosion, and areas in which other material will not survive. Many of these grow rampant while others contain themselves within a given area. So much has been written in leading garden magazines concerning this particular group of plants for landscaping the home grounds that the interest in ground covers is increasing with each planting season.

Normal care is all that is required with the exception of extra watering during the hot dry months on those plants growing on steep slopes or in sandy or loose soil situation. Fertilizing by spraying or working into the soil is very important for plants on steep embankments or in inferior soil.

A few heavy rocks embedded in the soil will often tend to bind the soil and give the plants a chance to root and become well established in a short period of time.

Most ground cover plants require a minimum of attention once they have become established.

The following list of plants suitable for ground covers should give the gardener a wide range from which to select for his particular situation. The Latin name is given first, followed by the plant's common name:

Ajuga (many varieties), Carpet Bugle; Eonymus (many varieties), Wintercreeper or Evergreen Bittersweet; Hedera (many hardy varieties), Ivy; Pachysandra — green or variegated, Japanese Spurge; Sedum "Dragons Blood", Stonecrop; Sedum "Cappa Blanca", Stonecrop; Sedum (dozens of varieties), Stonecrop; Vinca Minor; Myrtle; Lonicera Haliana, Hall's Japanese Honey; Hypericum Calycinum, St. John's Wort; Polygonum Multiflora, Fleece Flower; Phlox Subulata, Creeping Phlox; Cotoneaster Apiculata, Cranberry Cotoneaster.

Most of these plants can be purchased in peat or clay pots and are much less expensive than the larger field grown plants.

For readers interested in a more complete list of ground covers for this area send a self-addressed stamped envelope to "Garden Gossip Editor", care of Dixon Evening Telegraph. This complete list will be ready for mailing in a week or ten days.

An excellent book entitled "The Shrub Identification Book" by George W. D. Symonds is a good source of information on this particular type of plant material. This book is available at the Dixon Public Library. Another good book is "Ground Cover Plants" by Donald Wyman, published by the Macmillan Company.

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — The official Turkish Cypriot news bulletin says Greek authorities are banning duty free Red Crescent — Turkish Red Cross — supplies to force Turks to buy these goods from the Greeks.

The bulletin said Turkish Cypriot Vice President Fazil Kuchuk appealed by cable to U.N. Secretary-General U Thant to take action against the Cyprus government ban.

VIETIANE, Laos (AP) — Laotian Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma says he told the Soviet Union his government would be willing to participate in an international conference on Laos if North Vietnamese troops were withdrawn from its territory.

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP) — A Pakistan International Airlines plane crashed Friday in mountain country near the Afghanistan frontier and 22 of the 26 persons aboard were killed, the line reported.

LOOKING AROUND

By E. G.

Happy birthday to . . . Mrs. Z. W. Moss, today . . . Mrs. Gerald Cotter and Murray Wentling, tomorrow . . . Gladie Prescott, Florida Telegraph subscriber, the 31st . . . the good word for those born on the 27th says you are optimistic . . . have a happy nature . . . are fascinating and thus attract many admirers . . . if born on the 28th, you are a hard worker, but go at too fast a pace . . . are successful in business, but devote too much time to it . . . those born on the last day of this month are capable of great things.

A great big welcome to . . . Dolores Abens, who has joined her husband, Don, the able and capable Mr. Chamber of Commerce . . . home you are as happy to be here as we are to have you . . . with their seven children, Don and Dolores are now residing at 410 N. Ottawa.

Interesting and factual . . . According to an article in a Florida newspaper, "daily newspapers in the United States had a larger increase in circulation in 1964 than in any other year since 1946 . . . figures showed newspapers increased their circulation 1 1/2 million copies a day over the previous year." . . . using an old cliché, radio and tv will never take the place of newspapers for many reasons — one of which is — "You can't swat flies with them."

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Grimes, Fond Du Lac, Wis., were guests last weekend in the home of Mrs. Mary Nilsson . . . came expressly to attend the announcement party for their niece, Mary Jane Nilsson . . . Mary Jane and her fiancé, Frank Sushak, returned Thursday to their studies at the University of Minnesota.

The Sidney Sinows look the picture of health and much refreshed after "taking the bawths" at Hot Springs, Ark. . . . Posies to the Forrester Trautweins celebrating their 31st wedding anniversary on the 29th.

Thoroughly enjoyed the Fourteenth Annual Rotary Club all sports banquet given in honor of our high school's varsity lettermen . . . sorry to have missed the other thirteen . . . especially enjoyed the words of Jerry Burns, football coach at the University of Iowa, and those of Robert Vogt, tennis instructor at DHS . . . the baked ham was delicious — as were all the trimmings . . . if the dinner was any indication of the food served at the DHS cafeteria — going back to school might not be such a bad idea.

Dixonites are glad to see Mary Louise Marloth back in town . . . is here for an indefinite stay before rejoining her husband down in Georgia. . . . Mrs. Frank Schotka, Jr., and Mrs. Earl Slagle, Jr., entertained friends at a Nachusa House luncheon today . . . tonight, the David Edelsons are rolling out the red carpet and dispensing hospitality at their home on N. Brinton.

Off the campus and on the town . . . Sue Gunner, Betty Jean Consul, Carol Bross, Fred Toole and Dan Cook, students at Southern Illinois, have been seen gadding about town this week during their Spring(?) vacation . . . all are slated to return to Carbondale tomorrow.

Next Thursday is the first of April — April Fool's Day . . . Did you know . . . that the French call the victim of an April Fool's joke, a "Poisson d'Avril," meaning fish of April or a silly fish . . . that the Scotch call him a "gowk", which means simpleton or cuckoo and has been Americanized into the word "gawk" . . . that in Germany the victim is called a "schaafkopf" meaning sheep's head?

Scholars once believed that April Fool's Day started in the miracle plays of the Dark Ages . . . now it is generally believed that it evolved when the beginning of the new year was changed from April 1st to January 1st . . . the people turned the first of April into a mock New Year's and burlesqued all the solemn and social observances of the day.

April Fool savings . . . "Enjoy what you have and let the fools seek more." "However great the fool he always finds a greater fool to admire him." . . . "The foolish woman marks her age down to a lower figure that she may go at a bargain."

See you next week and beings as "Spring is a little late this year" wonder if the government would consider paying us not to shovel snow.

Hawks Even Series, 1-1

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It's bad enough to lose the game — but to get bitten by your pet dog.
That's what happened to Buddy Jeannette, coach of the Baltimore Bullets, after the St. Louis Hawks had beaten the Bullets 129-105 Friday night and evened the Western Division semifinal playoffs in the National Basketball Association at 1-1.
The Cincinnati Royals, behind a 40-point performance by Oscar Robertson, also squared the Eastern Division semi playoffs at 1-1 by edging the Philadelphia 76ers 121-120.

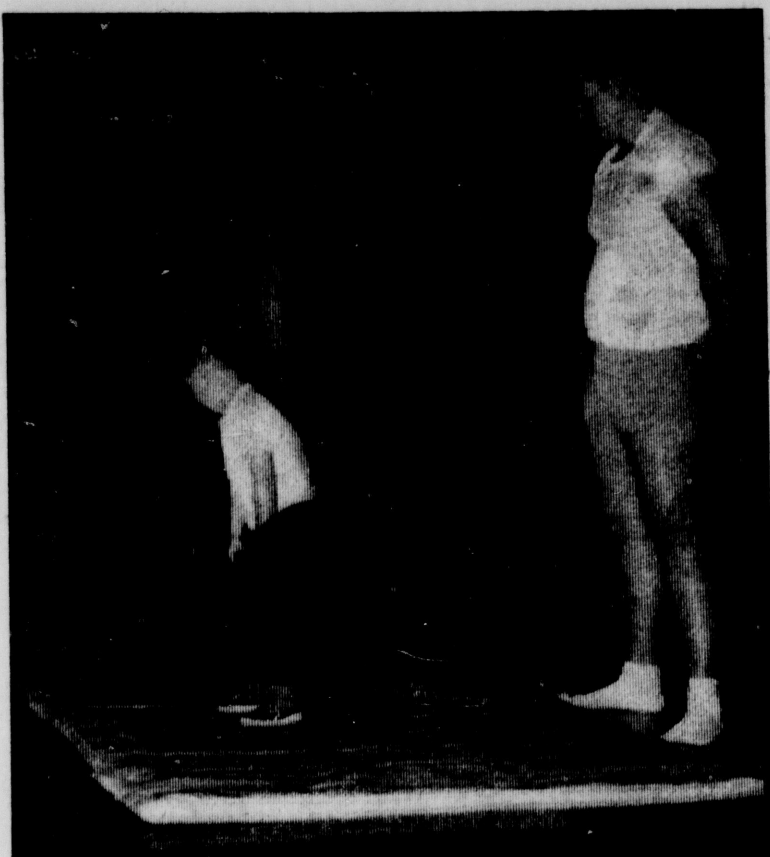

Guerin Gets
Player-coach Richie Guerin led the Hawks with 28 points in their home court romp over Baltimore. The Bullets rallied within six points at 87-81, but three straight baskets by Bob Pettit pulled the Hawks out of danger.

The Bullets' mascot, a dachshund, bit Jeannette on the wrist when the game ended. Robertson, who was hampered with a sore foot in Cincinnati's overtime defeat at Cincinnati Wednesday, played with his foot wrapped in a special tape.

At halftime, the Big O said he took off the special wrapping because it was "so tight, I was in pain." It didn't seem to matter. He scored 20 points in each half.

Came From Behind
Altogether he made 13 field goals in 19 attempts, hit 14 of 14 from the foul line and handed out 12 assists as the royals came from behind a 65-60 half-time deficit. Jerry Lucas got two key baskets in the last two minutes to put the Royals ahead for good.

The Baltimore-St. Louis shifts to Baltimore tonight for the third game in the best-of-5 series. The third game in the Cincinnati-Philadelphia set will be held at Cincinnati Sunday afternoon and will be nationally televised.

American Cars Share Spotlight at Sebring

By DUKE FERGUSON
SEBRING, Fla. (AP) — This could be the day of the American dark horse in the Sebring 12-hour endurance automobile race.

For the first time in the long annals of international road racing, American-built cars are figured as co-favorites with the European machinery that has dominated road racing for so many years.

The Chaparrals of Jim Hall, Midland, Tex., years in development, are given a chance for the first time of lasting out the 12-hour grind on the flat, 5.2-mile twisting course over an abandoned airport.

Hall's Chevrolet-powered cars — using an unorthodox automatic transmission — clocked the fastest unofficial lap time Thursday of 2 minutes 57.6 seconds, over 105 miles per hour.

His other Chaparral was timed in three minutes flat. Ford-powered cars — Ford Cobras built by Carroll Shelby of Venice, Calif., and the Ford GT5 — also are considered among the top runners. They were second fastest qualifiers with times just under 100 miles an hour.

But Ferrari, winner here for four straight years is still the car to beat. Though they might not be as fast or as powerful as the American cars, they are durable and seldom break down.

Title Bouts On Closed Circuit TV

NEW YORK (AP) — Closed circuit television of Tuesday's championship boxing doubleheader at Madison Square Garden will be seen in 86 locations in the United States and Canada, Theater Network Television, Inc., said today.

The two 15-round bouts send welterweight champion Emile Griffith of New York against Jose Stable of Cuba and light heavyweight champion Willie Pastrano of Miami Beach, Fla., against Jose Torres of Puerto Rico. The first bout, Griffith vs. Stable, is scheduled for 8:30 p.m., CST.

TNT said the theaters and arenas where the fight will be shown have a seating capacity of 350,000, an increase of 40 per cent over the capacity for the Floyd Patterson-George Chuvalo heavyweight bout.

Boston Loses Two More Players in 15-9 Victory

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Boston Red Sox were hitting them to the left, to the right and mostly far, far away. The balls took off in the rarified atmosphere of Nogales, Mexico, and eventually bounced off cobble streets, into tumbleweeds and some landed in the crowd at the bull ring.

Some of the men who hit them landed in the hospital.

10 Home Runs
Normally, a 10 home run explosion is cause for rejoicing on any ball club. But there's no joy in Beantown today. The Red Sox, who collected 48 total bases on 16 hits in a 15-9 rout of Cleveland at Nogales Friday, must be wondering if the spring training trip was really worth it.

Two more Red Sox, including another pitcher, went on the injured list that is already bulging with Boston casualties — particularly pitchers.

Dave Morehead was the latest casualty, suffering a deep, painful bruise on his pitching shoulder when struck by a line drive off the bat of Max Alvis. Alvis also took out rookie catcher Mike Ryan, one of 10 Red Sox hitting home runs. Ryan left with a bruised knee after a collision at the plate.

In St. Petersburg, Fla. the New York Yankees broke up a couple of streaks with an 8-0 shutout of their cross-town playmates, the Mets.

Right-handers Mel Stottlemyre and Pete Ramos collaborated on a three-hitter, were backed by a 13-hit attack, including three by Tom Tresh, and broke the Mets' four-game winning string. It was only the second Yankee victory in 10 games.

And at Lakeland, Fla., a three-run homer by Detroit's George Smith beat Sandy Koufax and the Los Angeles Dodgers 3-2. Koufax went eight innings.

Pittsburgh Wins
Lanky Don Schwall of Pittsburgh had a three-hitter going through eight innings at West Palm Beach, Fla., but had to have help to get out of the ninth with a 3-2 edge over Milwaukee.

In the other baseball exhibitions, Baltimore blanked Washington 2-0 in a night game at Miami, the Chicago White Sox beat Minnesota 7-3 at Orlando, Fla., the Chicago Cubs bombed Los Angeles' Angels 13-3 at Mesa, Ariz., Cincinnati took Houston 6-3 at Tampa, Fla., and Kansas City edged Philadelphia 6-5 at Bradenton, Fla.

Hitting The Net

Alex Delvecchio of Detroit Red Wings winds up atop net with help of New York Rangers' Wayne Hillman at Detroit, Mich. Delvecchio scored goal on this play—one of three in the match—which gave Detroit 7-4 victory and National Hockey League championship. New York goalie Marcel Paille lies in goal mouth.

East Lacks Guards for Game Today

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Joe Lapchick bows out of college basketball today with perhaps the best squad he's ever coached — and he may get beat.

Lapchick, who retired after guiding St. John's to its fourth NIT crown last week, coaches the East in today's East-West College All-Star game. He has been singing the blues because his team has a lack of guards.

"The East has the size," West Coach Doggie Julian of Dartmouth agrees, "but I think our backcourt is going to compensate for that."

He has All - America Gail Goodrich of UCLA, Jim Jarvis of Oregon State, John Fairchild of Brigham Young, and Flynn Robinson of Wyoming, while Lapchick's only guard is his own Ken McIntyre of St. John's.

Lapchick planned to start five men, none of whom ever played guard in college—Bill Buntin of Michigan, Bill Cunningham of North Carolina, Toby Kimball of Connecticut, Ron Reed of Notre Dame and Jerry Sloan of Evansville.

Julian countered with Ollie Johnson of San Francisco, UCLA's Keith Erickson, Wichita's Dave Stallworth and Goodrich and Jarvis.

Namath To Skip All-Star Games

BUEFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Joe Namath, the Alabama quarterback with a high-powered New York Jets professional football contract, says he will not play in either the All-America game at Buffalo or the College All-Star game this summer.

"I just won't be ready," said Namath, who is recovering from a knee operation performed in New York City in January.

Namath was quoted by Jim Peters in a story appearing in Friday's Buffalo Courier-Express. Peters said he chatted by telephone with Namath from the college seniors dormitory in Tuscaloosa.

Namath reportedly signed a $400,000 contract with the Jets of the American Football League.

Saari Sets New Freestyle Mark

By RON SPEER

AMES, Iowa (AP) — A daring challenge by Southern California's Roy Saari paid off with another record for the muscular Trojan ace and put him in position today to claim a triple crown in the National Collegiate Swimming Championships for the second straight year.

The stunning upset of defending champion Steve Clark of Yale by Saari also helped Southern California take a nine-point lead over Indiana in the race for the team title.

Saari passed up the defense of his 200-yard medley title to battle Clark at his specialty, the 200-yard freestyle. Saari broke Clark's year-old record in the preliminaries, but five minutes later Clark reclaimed it with a blistering 1:43.3 to qualify for Friday night's finals.

In their head-on collision, Saari overpowered Clark in the final 25 yards and won by two feet as he lowered the collegiate standard to 1:42.9.

His Trojan teammates, however, may have trouble turning back Indiana's bid for its first collegiate swimming championship.

The Hoosiers trail Southern California 18½ to 17½ going into the last seven events. But Indiana is expected to score heavily in the three-meter diving, after picking up 37 points in one-meter diving in the opening round.

The Hoosiers also have top swimmers available for their bid, with Tom Tretheway and Fred Schmidt both claiming record victories Friday night.

Emms Offered Bruins General Manager Post

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (AP)—Hap Emms, manager and assistant coach of the Niagara Falls Flyers of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series, said Friday night, he has been offered the job as general manager of the National Hockey League Boston Bruins.

In Boston Friday, Eeston Adams, owner of the Bruins, said he did not want to comment. He said he would make a statement after the Bruins' final game Sunday night.

Emms said the specific duties facing him will include reorganization of the Bruins, last-place finishers in the NHL.

Pirates Hurt By Clemente's Absence

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
FORT MYERS, Fla. — Roberto Clemente's malaria has been a stiff blow to Harry (The Hat) Walker in his first spring training camp as a big league manager.

Pittsburgh finished in a sixth-place tie with Los Angeles last year with a healthy Clemente winning the batting championship. Until his status is clear, it is difficult to assess the Pirates' chances this year.

A lesser blow, but still significant, is the injury suffered in an exhibition game Thursday by veteran second baseman Bill Mazeroski. He broke a bone in his right foot when his spikes caught on a base and will be out five or six weeks.

Series Hero
Walker, the 1947 batting king and hero of the 1946 World Series at St. Louis, earned respect in the minors as a teacher of hitting and a handler of men. It is unfortunate that a star like Clemente has to be a doubtful factor just when he has his chance as a manager.

"I want my players to think they can do the job," said Walker. "I don't want anybody to start feeling sorry for themselves. The big thing is to believe in yourself. That is the big edge the Yankees have had for years. Everybody gives up before the season starts.

"We have three young men who are on the verge of becoming top flight big league ball players. They are Bob Bailey, Willie Stargell and Donn Clendenon."

Problems
Walker has problems at shortstop and pitching, where Bob Veale and Bob Friend are the only starters he can count on. Don Cardwell and Don Schwall are coming back from arm trouble. Vern Law did a fine job last year and Joe Gibbon came back strong.

With Al McBean and Elroy Face in the bullpen, Walker is pretty well set there. It is up to men like Tommie Sisk, Steve Blass and Frank Bork to make the staff. Tom Butters got off slowly because of an auto accident.

Clendenon is set on first and Bailey on third, unless Walker decides to platoon him in left field against left-handed pitching. With Mazeroski sidelined, Dick Schofield, Andre Rodgers and Gene Alfield will handle second and shortstop.

If and when Clemente is ready, he will be in right. Bill Virdon and Manny Mota may platoon in center and Stargell or Jerry Lynch will be in left. Stargell may have to go to right or first base on occasions if his knee operation doesn't bother him.

Jim Pagliaroni and Del Crandall, acquired from the Giants, will do most of the catching.

Although the Pirates led the league in double plays they also were guilty of the most errors, 177, of any club in either league. Everything will have to come up roses if the Bucs are to be in it this year.
